NOMINATION EXCERPT

aniel Gibson was a talented associate at intellectual property firm Cantor Colburn doing impressive work for clients in the electrical-mechanical and design fields. In 2012 and 2013, Gibson substantially increased the amount of work coming to the firm from multiple brand name clients, leading to his recent elevation to the partnership. His ability to listen, communicate and deliver results on tight deadlines has allowed him to both grow business for Cantor Colburn and enhance the IP portfolios of his clients.

- Co-chairs Cantor Colburn's design practice group and manages global design portfolios for Fortune 500 companies.
- Has developed design practice to such an extent that an international electronics client has sent hundreds of new design cases in a year's time.
- In the past year, has spent a couple of days each week acting as in-house IP counsel for a multinational firm. Has been involved in all facets of IP matters, including clearance, transaction, licensing, assertion, filings and prosecution, not only in the United States but across the globe.
