TEAM CANTOR COLBURN RACES FOR THE CURE

Troy, Mich.- At the 17th annual Komen Detroit Race for the Cure Cantor Colburn LLP employees, family members and friends came out to show their support and walk for a cure for breast cancer. Cantor Colburn LLP is a national, full service intellectual property firm of 95+ attorneys and patent professionals, with offices in Detroit, Washington, D.C., Atlanta, Ga., and Hartford, Conn.

Team Cantor Colburn was organized by new associate Lindsay Kadow to honor a colleague who is a survivor, as well as relatives of members whose lives have been touched by breast cancer. One of the honorees was Claire Terletzky, mother of Cantor Colburn patent attorney Mary Golota. Claire was recently diagnosed with metastatic breast cancer. Golota's colleagues, friends and families have rallied around Terletzky, nicknaming the women on their team the "Brave Babes," in recognition of Terletzky's bravery in battling cancer.

"Research does make a difference, and has increased survival odds for most types of breast cancer," Golota said. "The contributions of time, effort and money by Team Cantor Colburn and everyone who participated in this event will touch thousands of women and their families. It is an honor to be a part of a firm that is committed to local charitable giving at all levels."
