Cantor Colburn Partners Curtis Krechevsky and P. Jay Hines in *International Who's Who of Trademark Lawyers 2009

Hartford, Conn.—Curtis Krechevsky and P. Jay Hines, partners at Cantor Colburn LLP, intellectual property attorneys, are in the 2009 edition of The International Who's Who of Trademark Lawyers for being among the world's leading practitioners of trademark law. Mr. Krechevsky and Mr. Hines were nominated for this distinction by their peers. According to the publication, the lawyers who receive this honor "can be considered to be experts in their specialist areas of Trademark law."

"Curt and Jay have distinguished themselves as very effective and knowledgeable trademark attorneys for more than twenty years," said Michael A. Cantor, co-managing partner of Cantor Colburn LLP. "We are proud of the service they provide to our clients."

About the Attorneys

Curt Krechevsky is Chair of the Trademark & Copyright Department at Cantor Colburn. His practice focuses on trademark, unfair competition, copyright, rights of publicity and privacy, Internet, advertising, marketing, promotions, licensing, and trade secrets law. Mr. Krechevsky has represented businesses from a broad range of industries, including high-technology, entertainment, and consumer products. Prior to joining Cantor Colburn, Mr. Krechevsky was both in-house counsel and in private practice, handling national and international trademark and copyright matters. He is a frequent speaker and author on trademark and copyright issues. He served as a law clerk to Judge Zita L. Weinshienk, United States District Court, District of Colorado, in Denver, Colorado. He is admitted in Massachusetts and Colorado, as well as in various federal appeals and district courts. Mr. Krechevsky has a law degree from Harvard University and a bachelor's in Political Science from Yale University.

Jay Hines concentrates his practice on all facets of trademark law, from search and clearance through registration, enforcement and defense before administrative and judicial tribunals, domestically and abroad. He has extensive experience before the U.S. Trademark Trial and Appeal Board and does considerable international trademark work, including counterfeit goods actions. He also handles related transactional, due diligence and domain name matters. Prior to joining Cantor Colburn LLP, Mr. Hines was a trademark partner in two leading Washington, D.C. law firms, and he was a senior attorney with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. He teaches a law masters course at the Max Planck Institute in Munich entitled "Practical Training in Trademark law." He is a frequent speaker and author on trademark and copyright, particularly the Madrid Protocol and trends and issues faced by particular industries. He is admitted in the District of Columbia and Virginia, the U.S. Court of International Trade, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and the U.S. District Court, Eastern District of Virginia. Mr. Hines has a law degree from the Lewis and Clark Law School and a bachelor's in American Studies from the University of Notre Dame.
