

Cantor Colburn LLP

Patent Attorney or Agent in Chemical, Polymers, or Materials Science
Leading IP Law Firm Cantor Colburn
-Remote-

Cantor Colburn LLP, one of the largest full-service intellectual property law firms in the U.S., seeks a patent attorney or agent with a degree in chemical or materials science/engineering to join our talented team of patent professionals. A candidate having actual laboratory or manufacturing shop floor experience in addition to being a patent agent or attorney would be preferred.

Cantor Colburn is committed to supporting work-life balance in our culture by fostering an environment where our attorneys can thrive professionally while maintaining a balanced personal life. Candidates can work remotely; candidates who wish to work from one of our offices in Atlanta, Georgia; Washington, D.C.; or Hartford, Connecticut may do so.

The ideal candidate has two or more years of experience as an attorney or agent drafting and globally prosecuting patent applications in chemical and materials science. The firm will offer training for candidates with less than two years' experience and candidates with all experience levels are encouraged to apply. A Ph.D. or Master's in chemical, polymers, or materials science is preferred. Knowledge of ceramics, carbon-carbon composites, carbon capture chemistry, graphing chemistry, electrochemistry, battery chemistry, and polymer chemistry, particularly coatings, would be advantageous. U.S. Patent and Trademark Office registration as an attorney or agent is required.

We seek new team members who, like us, have a passion for intellectual property law, backed by solid experience and in-depth technical knowledge and thrive in a collaborative, collegial culture that encourages creativity and responsibility while delivering outstanding client service.

Cantor Colburn offers the full range of intellectual property legal services to clients working in a wide variety of industries and has particular strength in patent matters. The firm is ranked #9 for utility and #4 for design patents, handling matters for clients in virtually all technologies. In addition to patent preparation and prosecution, Cantor Colburn offers counseling and representation in portfolio management, opinion rendering, due diligence in IP transactions, agreements and
