INADMISSIBLE

The Connecticut Invention Convention (CIC) honored Cantor Colburn partner Charles O'Brien as he stepped down from its board of directors after four years as a member. Sonya Richmond, interim president of the CIC, presented O'Brien with a citation from the General Assembly recognizing his "leadership, voluntarism, advice and counsel, and support" to the nonprofit that serves 11,000 kid inventors all over the state. Pictured, from left, are: Michael Cantor, comanaging partner of Cantor Colburn; O'Brien; Helen Charov, executive director of the CIC; and Richmond.
