

Cantor Colburn Partner Victor Kernus Named to 50 Great Engineers by Temple University

This week, Temple University named Cantor Colburn LLP Partner Victor Kernus to their Continuum spotlight of 50 Temple engineering alumni and faculty who stand out among their peers. The list celebrates the first 50 years of Temple's College of Engineering which has produced thousands of creative, passionate, and altruistic engineers. Victor stands out as one of only a handful of intellectual property attorney honorees, highlighting not only his career as a Partner at the #4 patent law firm in the U.S., but also recognizing his compassion for others as a mentor and volunteer.

"Compassionate as he is driven, Victor Kernus has overcome adversity and setbacks to build a successful career. Service-minded, he serves as a leadership volunteer in Engineering and with veterans services," said Temple in a statement. "Always striving to help others achieve their best, Victor uses his professional expertise to guide young inventors through the patent process, demonstrating the spirit of community and service found in so many of our alumni."

Victor holds a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering degree cum laude from Temple University's College of Engineering in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and a J.D. from George Mason University School of Law, in Washington, D.C., with an emphasis in Intellectual Property Law. He has been a patent attorney for more than 20 years, concentrating his practice on mechanical, electrical, and medical technologies for a wide range of clients. He has written more than 1,000 patent applications and is an inventor on one U.S. patent.

For more than 10 years, Victor has served as an active volunteer, instructor, fly fishing guide, and assistant program lead with Project Healing Waters Fly Fishing, an organization that supports disabled veterans.

In 2019, Victor gave the alumni commencement address at the Temple Engineering fall commencement.
